CPYRGHT

CPYRGHT

made by sings on plans for the exchange have heen going on almost continuously in New York, Miami and Washington.

In Washington, an official of the Red Cross, which is accepting donations of foodstuffs and medical samples, said:

Departure Tomorrow Is Tentatively Planned For Vessel

By HELEN DELICH BENTLEY [Maritime Editor of The Sun]

Baltimore-based treighter was on a stand-by basis last night, ready to sail to Havana tomorrow night with medicines and food supplies demanded by Premier Filel Castro in exchange for Cuban invasion prisoners.

the freighter is the S.S. African Pilot, now at the Bethlehem Steel Company's Key Highway Ship Repair Yard, where she docked Maritime Administration.

Back On Active Status

of events over this weekend, with extensive meetings going on ir Washington, New York and Miamil Fa., on the prisoner exchange the ship was restored and active stous to wait for file the orders
A crew has been ordered on stand-by, to report Monday atterneon and sail that night if all is completed. The National Maritime Union said it would supply the unlicensed seamen.

In New York, James E. Donovan, an attorney, who has been supervising the negotiations on behalf of the prisoners' families, said he knew nothing of a ship being held in readiness.

"Believe me," he said, "as far as I know, I am the only direct channel with Castro and I know nothing at all about any S.S. African Pilot heing made ready." can Pilot being made ready."

"Extremely Optimistic"

applies, said:

supplies, said:
"There is nothing new to report.
As far as I know, Baltimore has played no part in the negotiations. It is possible that this (placing the ship on stand by) is a preferatory move use in case the prisoners are released."

However, another Red Cross

However, another Red Cross source a knowledged that assembly of the supplies for shipment to Cuba has been undertaken by the Red Cross.

Final details concerning the prisoner exchange still remained uncertain, it was said, with Monday noon given as the deadline for closing the deal or dropping it altogether.

Administration Reluctant

Part of the uncertainty stems rom the Administration's relu-ance to become involved in the risoner exchange in any way as result of various Cuban or see, ating back to the abortive Bay f Pigs invasion in April, 1961, when the 1,113 men were taken erament to do so.

iled to head for Miami to pick ip $13,000,000 worth of medicines However, because of the turn and food and then sail to Havana.

peen refusing to handle any ships one.

requested officially by the Gr orisoners.

Although without a crow at the by the Farrell Lines, a private nominate the African Pilot is steamship company that has a Thursday to be deactivated and moment the African Pilot is steamship company that has a returned to the dead fleet of the top of the noment. She is tentatively sched lings to South, West, and East Africa.

> Because she only has staterooms aboard for twelve passengers, no The prisoners are to be flown attempt would be made, it is believed, to transport any of the The International Longshore-passengers on the ship, although nen's Association, which has the run is a comparatively short > or cargoes linked to Cuba, has The tonnage of the medicines aid that its members would load and foods could not be learned he ransom medicine and food it last night.

FOIAb3b

He added, however, that he was still "extremely optimistic" that the prisoner exchange will be Sanitized - Approved For Release : CIA-RDP75-00001R000100390061-8